interest in the Contest Increasing-The People Thoroughly Aroused to the Need for Action.

The Republicans have shown their hand, as the sports have it, and do not now attempt to conceal the fact that they now attempt to conceal the fact that they are willing to sacrifice everything if by so doing they can obtain the office of sheriff. When the election first began to be talked of a number of the leaders took pains to declare their high regard for Sheriff Cannon and their despair of being able to place in nomination a man who could defeat him for that office. They conceded his election as certain, and a good many said in an off-hand way that he had made a good officer and they intended to vote for him, no matter who was nominated. They went even further, and talked about placing him on

That he happens to be an Irishman is the cause of a little buncombe talk to the effect that he will carry all the Irish vote, because that nationality has no place on the Democratic ticket. Kinsella not long since threw what little influence he has against two leading Irishmen and they have not forgotten him. The fact is that the Irish demanded nothing this year of the Democratic party, but are waiting patiently for the election which is to take place two years hence, when there will be a general swinging of corners, and all the important county offices will be filled. My first subject was a rougiabout—the blackest negro you ever saw. He was a big burly fellow, with his ankle set in the middle of his foot, great bony hands, a receding forehead and wide, white teeth. I had to go through a long course of explanation, and he reluctantly consented at last to allow me to sketch him first dressed as he was and then entirely nude with the exception of a breech-clout. with the breech clout. If I had offered to murder her she would not have shown more horror. 'Lord, Lord,' she said, 'Lemme git out o' heah!' I argued the point, offered her more money, but it was of no use. She bolted and has never been back since. I was obliged to content myself with an inferior sketch, which I obtained after a good deal of trouble. All of my drawings since that time are in pairs.

You may talk about the if you please, and I am willing to believe a great deal of it, but I have learned one thing—the blackest women are the mos careful about their persons. As to whethe or not they are virtuous I cannot say, bu I do know that they are outwardly a goo deal more modest than those who has white blood in their veins. With none the men, except the first, have I had an trouble, and though a good deal of persua sion has been required of the women there were a few who were as accommodating anyone could have desired. These we

New York Graphic: A company is getting ready to build a pneumatic tube for carrying letters and small packages from Chicago to New York. The idea at first seems impracticable, but on examination it turns out to be feasible. Two tubes are to be made of brass, which will be run side by side, although it is said one tube will be tried at first. A powerful engine with an exhaust wheel is to be stationed at one end. It is said that if the tube is properly made and planted no air will escape. The right of way, it is believed, can be secured for nothing, or at a nominal expense, and the main cost will be the tubes and the engines and stations. A letter, a sample of grain or package of any kind which is to be sent, is inclosed in a leather ball. A ball presents the least friction as a rolling object, and the leather is to be stiff and heavy. A continuous current of air is passing through the tube constantly. With one nice the plan is to reverse the engine every hour, the first non-forcing air into it at the Chicago end and sending packages to New York, the next hour exhausting the air at Chicago and drawing the packages as quickly back. The men who have it in charge do not say how long it will take to send a nackage this way, but claim to be able to do it in less than a minute. Stations will be established at the important cities on the route. It is expected to pay a large profit, and to do the business of the telegraph companies, express companies, and the mail. They say the business of sending crude petroleum by a pipe for long distances, as is now done, was laughed at first, and that this one is more practicable, if possible, and not nearly so costly, as the pipes are to be small and can go around curves and over hill as well as on the If possible, and not nearly so costly, as the page are to be small and can go around curves and over hill as well as on the level
